Taki Flevaris Sworn in as King County Superior Court Judge

King County Superior Court Presiding Judge Patrick Oishi swore in Taki Flevaris on Monday, November 28, 2022.

“Being a judge requires knowledge, experience, and an unwavering commitment to justice,” said Presiding Judge Patrick Oishi. “We are pleased to welcome Taki Flevaris to the Superior Court bench. Our court, and the people of King County, will be better because of his service.”

Flevaris was appointed by Gov. Inslee on October 24, 2022. He will replace Judge Mike Diaz, who was recently appointed to the Washington State Court of Appeals.

Since 2013, Flevaris has worked as a litigator and counselor at Pacifica Law Group LLP, handling a wide range of matters with a focus on governmental, constitutional, policy, regulatory, and compliance issues. Before becoming a partner at Pacifica, he clerked at the Washington State Supreme Court for Justice Steven González. From 2010 to 2011, Flevaris was an associate attorney with K&L Gates LLP.

Flevaris is also active in the community. Since 2013, he's served as a faculty affiliate with the Korematsu Center for Law and Equality at Seattle University School of Law, where he has worked on numerous constitutional and civil rights issues. He was also a board member and administrator with Your House Boxing & Community Club, from 2011 to 2016.

Flevaris earned his bachelor's degree at Northwestern University. He obtained his law degree from Harvard Law School.
