Restrained Person's Distinguishing Features:

1. The Court Finds:

The Court has jurisdiction over the parties, the minors, and the subject matter. Based upon the Canadian domestic violence protection order entered by the Canadian court:

with the case/docket #: _____

filed on: _____

2. It is Ordered:

- The Court enforces the Canadian domestic violence protection order and the Respondent of that Canadian domestic violence protection order is restrained according to the terms of that order.

The Court finds that the Canadian domestic violence protection order identified a protected individual and a respondent, was valid and was in effect, the Canadian court issuing the domestic violence protection order did have jurisdiction over the parties and subject matter, and the respondent of the Canadian domestic violence protection order was given reasonable notice and an opportunity to be heard.

This order is effective immediately and will run concurrent with the Canadian domestic violence protection order. This order will expire when the Canadian domestic violence protection order expires on:

- The Court denies enforcement of the Canadian domestic violence protection order because:

- The Canadian domestic violence protection order does not identify a protected individual and a respondent;
- The Canadian domestic violence protection order is not valid and is not in effect;
- The Canadian court issuing the Canadian domestic violence protection order did not have jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter;
- The respondent of the Canadian domestic violence protection order was not given reasonable notice and/or did not have an opportunity to be heard before the order was issued.

This order is effective immediately. The Canadian domestic violence protection order may not be registered under RCW 26.55.040.

3. Washington Crime Information Center (WACIC) and Other Data Entry

Clerk's Action. The court clerk shall forward a copy of this order and the Canadian Domestic Violence Order immediately to the following law enforcement agency (county or city)

(check only one): Sheriff's Office or Police Department

This agency shall enter this order into WACIC and National Crime Info. Center (NCIC).

Warnings to the restrained person of a valid Canadian domestic violence protection order:

A violation of any provision of a valid Canadian domestic violence protection order with actual notice of its terms is a criminal offense under chapter 7.105 RCW, will subject you to arrest, and will constitute contempt of court. If the violation of the protection order involves travel across a state line or the boundary of a tribal jurisdiction, or involves conduct within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States, which includes tribal lands, you may be subject to criminal prosecution in federal court under 18 U.S.C. §§ 2261, 2261A, or 2262.

A violation of any provision of a valid Canadian domestic violence protection order is a gross misdemeanor unless one of the following conditions apply: Any assault that is a violation of a valid Canadian domestic violence protection order and that does not amount to assault in the first degree or second degree under RCW 9A.36.011 or 9A.36.021 is a class C felony. Any conduct in violation of this order that is reckless and creates a substantial risk of death or serious physical injury to another person is a class C felony. Any violation of a valid Canadian domestic violence protection order is a class C felony if the restrained person has at least two previous convictions for violating an order issued under chapters 26.50, 7.92, 7.105, 7.90, 9A.40, 9A.46, 9A.88, 9.94A, 10.99, 26.09, 26.10, 26.26A, 26.26B, or 74.34 RCW, under a valid foreign protection order as defined in RCW 26.52.020, or a valid Canadian domestic violence protection order as defined in RCW 26.55.010.

You can be arrested even if the person or persons who obtained the valid Canadian domestic violence protection order invite or allow you to violate that order's prohibitions. You have the sole responsibility to avoid or refrain from violating that order's provisions. Only the Canadian court that issued the domestic violence protection order can change the order upon written application.

Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2265, a court in any of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, any United States territory, and any tribal land within the United States shall accord full faith and credit to the valid Canadian domestic violence protection order.
