Overview

The facility was built in 1980 on a seven-acre property, which has a buffer between the facility and the rail line on the north side, a residential neighbor on the east side, King County Roads field office on the west, and a small helipad and Old Cascade Highway on the south side. It includes a no-fee recycling area and a fenced solid waste disposal area with two top-loading drop boxes, each with two stalls. For access to the disposal area, customers use the self-service payment kiosk that only accepts prepaid Solid Waste disposal cards or credit cards. The station serves residents and businesses from the Skykomish area.

Maximum load size

Not greater than three cubic yards (about the size of a pickup truck load).

Vehicle length limits

30 feet. No hydraulic lift trailers or lift vehicles allowed. Max combined length limit for vehicles and trailers from bumper to bumper.

What happens to the waste?

The waste is transported by a private commercial hauler in drop boxes from Skykomish to the Factoria Recycling and Transfer Station in Bellevue where it is compacted and then transported by county employees to the Cedar Hills Regional Landfill.

What happens to recyclable materials?

Recyclable materials are separated by type and distributed to local, national or international markets for processing into recycled content products.

Notable features

- It is the most remote solid waste facility operated by King County and is unstaffed. Cameras are used to monitor activities, and King County staff makes regular visits to the site to perform maintenance. In addition, employees from the King County Road Services Division facility next door helps monitor the site.
- The facility received a new roof in 2008 after the old roof collapsed under record snowfall in January of that year.
