

West Duwamish Wet Weather Storage

POST-DESIGN NEWSLETTER Thank you for staying engaged during design!

Share your feedback with the King County team

King County will start construction of a 1.25-million-gallon underground storage tank as soon as this summer near the intersection of Southwest Michigan Street and Second Avenue Southwest. This storage tank will help to reduce combined sewer overflows from the South Park and Highland Park drainage basins into the Duwamish River.

Through project design, we have worked with project neighbors to develop a solution that reflects community priorities. Let us know how we did!

TAKE OUR SHORT SURVEY

Visit Publicinput.com/westduwamishdesign to provide feedback.

You talked, we listened

Since 2018, King County has worked to design a solution to control overflows into the Duwamish River from two Combined Sewer Overflow (CSO) outfalls in the South Park drainage basin. This included recommending a project proposal, performing an environmental review, acquiring permits, and putting together contract specifications.

Along the way, we sought opportunities to engage our project neighbors and support local community-driven initiatives. The feedback you shared helped shape the look and feel of the new building and landscaping, identify community priorities, and refine public art projects. Thank you for staying engaged and helping to shape this clean water project!

Here is just a sampling of ways you and your neighbors engaged with our team over the past six years.

Construction is coming soon

Now that the design is complete, King County is preparing for construction. We expect construction to start in summer of this year and continue until summer 2028. Visit kingcounty.gov/westduwamish-cso to sign up for our email list and stay up to date as we head into construction.

Do you have questions?

If you have questions about wastewater or King County's role and work in South Park, please contact Daniel Arauz at 206-477-9953 or DaArauz@KingCounty.gov

Interpretation, translation services, and alternate formats are available to you at no cost, 206-477-5371. TTY dial 711.