

Help us plan for the future of RapidRide K Line

(Kirkland – Bellevue) planned for 2030

What is RapidRide K Line?

We're working to bring new RapidRide service to East King County, to provide better, more reliable bus service to communities in Kirkland and Bellevue.

By 2030, Metro plans to bring RapidRide K Line to the fast-growing communities between Totem Lake Transit Center in Kirkland, downtown Kirkland and Bellevue, and Eastgate Park & Ride in Bellevue. This 18-mile route connects riders to routes 239, 250, and 271, RapidRide B Line, Sound Transit's future I-405 Bus Rapid Transit and Link light rail.

Help us plan the future of RapidRide K Line

Take our survey by July 24 with QR code.

Community members, we need your help shaping RapidRide K Line.

- Tell us what you think of proposed bus stations
- When it comes to street and traffic changes, what matters most to you? We're considering projects, like sidewalks and crossings, that make it easier to get to the bus and changes to traffic signals and streets to make the bus faster and more reliable.

Visit our website and get involved:

- Take a survey. Weigh in on early plans for RapidRide K line.
- Join a virtual meeting. Call, listen and ask questions in a virtual space alongside other community members.
- Connect with Metro in your community. We're hosting informational sessions in your area. Stop by to ask questions and share your feedback.
- Sign up for updates. Via email or text, stay tuned as the project progresses.
- Contact Metro. Call or email our team with questions or comments.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Benefits of RapidRide

Buses first

In many areas, RapidRide travels in red "bus only" lanes, with special traffic lights timed for faster service.

More access

Enjoy all-door boarding. Tap your ORCA card to pay at a station or by any door inside the bus.

More often

Buses that come more often and on time.

Project timeline

2019 – 2020

Planning: Needs and priorities

In this first phase of engagement, Metro connected with community members, community-based organizations, businesses, and agency partners to plan the RapidRide K Line route.

2024 | WE ARE HERE

Planning: Early design

Metro further engages community members in two more phases:

- Gather input on early design plans.
- Report back to share how community input shaped designs and present concepts to King County Council for adoption.

2025 – 2029

Final design and construction:

Metro continues engaging communities in finalizing designs and building new stations, roadway changes, and other elements to create a safe, comfortable RapidRide experience.

2030
